Advent Software Adopts Health Advocacy Service to Assist Employees with Healthcare and Insurance Issues

Plymouth Meeting, PA: January 16, 2006. Advent Software, a global leader in providing software solutions to the investment management industry headquartered in San Francisco, will become the latest client of Health Advocate, the nation's leading advocacy and assistance company. Advent will give its employees this independent service as a way to provide added support for employees and their families when they need to use healthcare services.

Health Advocate helps members navigate the healthcare system providing assistance with a wide range of clinical and administrative issues. Designed to save clients both time and money, the program helps individuals get the most value from their healthcare benefits. An especially innovative feature of the program is coverage for employees' parents and parents-in-law, in addition to their spouses and dependent children.

"We are committed to providing our employees with the support they need to attend to their families' healthcare needs," said John Brennan, Vice President of Human Resources of Advent Software. "The services Health Advocate offers will free our employees from the burden of trying to resolve the vexing and often complicated issues many routinely encounter when using the healthcare system."

"Our service is designed to help employers and their employees get the most from their healthcare experience," said Michael J. Cardillo, President and Chief Executive Officer of Health Advocate, Inc. "We work hard to help keep employees productive while they are at work. Our team of experts relieves employees of the burdens of navigating the healthcare system on their own," continued Cardillo.

"Advent employees will benefit from our expanded family coverage which helps support an employee's spouse, dependent children as well as their parents and parents-in-law," commented Bonnie Cunningham, Vice President, Sales (California) of Health Advocate, Inc. "This is especially important given the impact of eldercare issues affecting employees and employers at the workplace," continued Cunningham.

Eligible employees and their families will enjoy unlimited personal access to Health Advocate's trained staff of Personal Health Advocates – typically registered nurses, supported by a team of administrative experts and medical directors. Health Advocate does not replace health insurance; rather it offers cost-effective services including helping to arrange appointments with specialist physicians and best-in-class medical institutions; assistance coordinating complex clinical issues and accessing community resources; finding senior care services that fall outside traditional health insurance coverage; and solving administrative issues.
