

New Program Helps Members Navigate Healthcare System

I Imagine having someone on your side who knows the ins and outs of the healthcare industry – someone who can quickly get you into see a specialist you can't get an appointment with, to solve that claim you can't resolve, and help you find quality senior services for a loved one.

The Chamber is pleased to announce a new partnership with Health Advocate, a health advocacy and assistance service designed to provide a range of quality services to assist employers and their employees deal with the complexities of the healthcare and insurance systems.

Health Advocate will offer Chamber members preferential discounts on services through its ChamberAdvantage program. Each participating member will be assigned a Personal Health Advocate, a registered nurse backed by a team of medical directors and administrative coordinators. The company serves as a liaison for clients with healthcare providers, insurance plans and other health related community resources. It offers a broad menu of cost-effective services, including providing assistance finding primary care, specialist physicians and medical institutions, and solving claims, billing and related administrative problems. Serving consumers across the country, Health Advocate also helps members access community resources, including senior care services that fall outside traditional health insurance coverage.
