Best Places to Work: 20 Best Companies

The name says it all: Health Advocate's got consumers' backs when it comes to figuring out health-care-and-insurance-related issues. Whether it's clearing up co-pay concerns or helping land an appointment with a hard-to-get specialist, HA's professional, sympathetic health advocates lead the way. "When you get affected with a healthcare issue, your status doesn't matter," says co-founder Marty Rosen. "You lose your ability to understand, to navigate—people just don't know what to do because they're so scared." Proof their mission matters: Health Advocate grew from a start-up in 2001, with just 10 clients in 2002, to the fifth fastest growing private company in the region last year. It now serves employees at 3,000-plus companies. 3043 Walton Road, Plymouth Meeting, 866-385-8033, healthadvocate.com.
