

Health Advocate, Inc. Wins Life Sciences Company of the Year

Posted by MIKE ARMSTRONG | Monday, May 9, 2011

The 18th Enterprise Awards handed out hardware to 15 area technology companies and people Wednesday.

That's nearly twice the number of awards given out at the 17th edition held in December 2009 when it was organized by the Eastern Technology Council.

The council merged with the Mid-Atlantic Capital Alliance in 2010 to form the Greater Philadelphia Alliance for Capital and Technologies, which everyone mercifully shortens to "PACT" (the "G" is silent, I guess).

While there is no overall "Leader of the PACT" award, there were plenty of other categories.

